Final online registrations will be accepted through Friday, June 1st. Just click here, <http://www.ad-co.com/2007Conference/2007RegForm.htm> to register—it only takes a minute. While you're there, check out the online agenda to pinpoint the sessions you want to attend, or plan on spending the entire day with us. Breakfast and lunch will be served, many of our vendor partners will be exhibiting and available to answer your questions, and there will be ample opportunity to network with key players in the industry.

Nearly 300 of your colleagues and friends have already registered for the conference which will feature updates on our LoanDynamics™, prepayment, and valuation models and how these tools can be used to harness risk and make better investment decisions. For the New York conference, we have assembled a distinguished panel of industry speakers that will discuss several of the key challenges faced by the RMBS market today. Andy Davidson will moderate the discussion on topics that include the outlook for home price appreciation, the rating agency view on sub-prime performance and relative value. Our panel of speakers include:

- Steve Abrahams, Bear Stearns, Senior Managing Director and Head of Global Liquid Product Strategy
- Glenn Costello, Fitch Ratings, Managing Director and Co-head U.S. RMBS Ratings Group
- Jonathan Miller, Miller Samuel, a Real Estate Appraisal Firm, President and CEO

Check out our website (<http://www.ad-co.com/>) over the next few days for details on the panel discussion in San Francisco.
